

Tekweld Names Monahan as Florida Rep and Expands National Accounts Program with Jenne Promotion

Tekweld announces the addition of Stephen Monahan, an accomplished veteran of the promotional products industry, to represent the company's line in the state of Florida. He will report directly to Tekweld Vice-President of Sales and Marketing, Ray Rodriguez.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Rodriguez stated, "I've known Steve for quite a few years and we are tremendously excited that he has become part of the Tekweld team. His strong and proven ability to connect with, relate to and assist our distributor clients is what first attracted us to him. The degree of professionalism he exhibits every day is refreshing and powerfully productive in today's competitive marketplace."

Monahan is a past Regional Association Council (RAC) delegate, and past board member of the Promotional Products Association of Florida (PPAF).

Mr. Rodriguez also announces the promotion of Dan Jenne to Director of National Accounts. The company's newly created position has the goal of developing strong working relationships with larger promotional products distributors with a national presence. Jenne will report directly to Rodriguez.

With 22 years experience in the promotional products industry, most recently as Tekweld's Southeast Regional Sales Manager, Rodriguez sees Jenne's strong technology background critical in his new role.

When asked about his goals at Tekweld, Jenne quickly replied, "I am very excited about this new opportunity. As Tekweld continues to grow, we need to be cultivating relationships with our larger national accounts, and unearthing all the opportunities that holds."

Dan has served as past president, and currently as trustee, for the Promotional Products Disaster Recovery Foundation (PPDRF), aiding industry members applying for natural disaster assistance. He also served as past president of Carolinas Association of Advertising and Marketing Professionals (CAAMP).
